ABOUT

THE CHARITY

Lifestyle Medicine is evidence-based, clinical care that supports behaviour change through person-centered techniques to improve mental wellbeing, social connection, healthy eating, physical activity, sleep and minimisation of harmful substances and behaviours.

The British Society of Lifestyle Medicine (BSLM), is an independent charity, set up to promote the role of lifestyle medicine in improving people's health and wellbeing. Join our vast membership from primary and secondary care clinicians, allied and public health professionals, scientists, educators, researchers and patients. BSLM aims to represent you and create a community of likeminded individuals that believe Lifestyle Medicine is the future.

THE CONFERENCE

We can't wait to welcome you to the University of Warwick! Join us and be part of something special, as BSLM 2026 promises to be our biggest event yet, celebrating over three days the journey of life through a Lifestyle Medicine prism. Our annual conference is the highlight of our year, bringing together many like-minded people from across the UK and the world for a comprehensive Lifestyle Medicine-based agenda. We wouldn't expect it to be any other way.

This year our conference will take place at the Arts Centre, on the stunning campus of the University of Warwick. We're excited to invite you to join us in this beautiful new setting.

Our conference is truly like no other. Not only will there be ground-breaking research in Lifestyle Medicine focusing on chronic conditions and day-to-day health, but also activities such as yoga to start the day with calm, and food that will truly nourish the soul.

We suggest you bring your exercise gear and something comfy for your feet for this jam-packed conference experience, set in 700 acres of beautiful countryside.
